

On average,
smokers die 13-14 years earlier
than non-smokers.

It's long enough to become a doctor, vote for three different Presidents or see a newborn reach its teens. Still, millions of smokers put 13-14 years of their lives at risk every day. If you don't smoke, don't start. If you know someone who does, send them to tobaccofreeflorida.com or to the Quitline at 1-877-U-CAN-NOW for counseling and information that can help them quit for good.
